How Can Your Son Benefit from Fraternity Membership?

In general, fraternities offer students a support system and “connection” to college which assists in their academic success. Fraternity members have a higher graduation rate than non-members and when they do graduate they are part of a network that for years has aided individuals in finding employment and making new friends as they transition from college life. Membership also requires community service which we believe prepares students to be good citizens and good neighbors.

Having been founded in 1975, Lambda Theta Phi is a relatively new fraternity, but many of us are fathers. Many of us are encouraging our children to consider joining a fraternity or sorority if they have an interest. We want a safe and rewarding college experience for our children, and we want it for your children also. Lambda Theta Phi is a “family” and we support one another. As a Latin fraternity we honor the traditions of our Latin heritage and respect those of other cultures. There is a place for your children and your family in the Lambda Theta Phi family.
